Introduction of Program

Program: Boubacar Mahmoud Maiga, “Justice and Human Relations”

Islam spread through a combination of faith, personal examples.

Boubacar Maiga is a manufacturing and operations leader with a passion for operational excellence, Lean transformation, and developing high performing teams. With extensive experience in aerospace, automotive and industrial manufacturing, he focuses on safety, quality, delivery, productivity, and building a culture of accountability and continuous improvement.

Beyond his professional career, Boubacar is deeply committed to community, faith, service, and bringing people together. He is actively learning ways to improve interfaith, community relations with a vision of building a welcoming, united, and service-oriented community. He believes in leading with humility, integrity, and purpose whether on the manufacturing floor, in the community, or in service to others

Next Week's Program September 27, 2026

Elaine Snyder-Conn, "Water: Our Most Essential Resource"

We live by the grace of water, yet rarely consider what is happening to water resources around the world. Elaine will address the many challenges we face, including overabundance, scarcity, and pollution.

Elaine holds a PhD in biology with an emphasis in aquatic sciences. She has served as a visiting assistant professor at NC State University and the University of Alaska and spent 23 years with the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, primarily as an environmental contaminants specialist. She later served as Deputy Field Supervisor at the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service's Daphne Field Office.
